The CMC provides the opportunity for the postgraduate and undergraduate researchers to present their research in the form of poster and free paper sessions. This enables the young researchers to showcase their research achievements with both peers and eminent mentors.

The researchers are given the opportunity to disseminate their research findings by publishing the abstracts of the free papers presented at CMC in a supplement of the Ceylon Journal of Medical Sciences (CJMS) which is an online journal. The Colombo Medical Congress has the potential to grow in strength and to raise the bar on excellence in the sphere of academic, scientific and professional conferences creating thought-provoking opportunities for researches to share their thoughts and experiences.
